

The Firearm-Related Injury Task Force utilizes a public health approach to address the leading cause of pediatric death in the United States.

